TRIM:

Adelaide City Libraries Residency Expression of Interest

Date: 16/6/17

Do you have a unique idea to develop new work and engage with the community in an exciting, flexible and contemporary environment?

What is a Residency?

- Endless possibilities for creating new and experimental work, programs or events in an inspiring environment with state of the art facilities
- Collaborating with the community in a shared space and together discovering new ways of thinking and engaging
- An opportunity to exchange ideas, shares skills and knowledge and challenge conventional thinking.

Individuals or groups are invited to express interest and share their ideas for a residency program. Past residents have included poets, sculptures, virtual reality developers, robotics programmers, writers, paranormal historians, artists and more! Together we will form a partnership and create something which we cannot create by ourselves. The possibilities are endless!

When?

Residencies may take place for any time period during the year and during library opening hours. Adelaide City Libraries has room for all ideas big and small.

How to apply?

Visit the Adelaide City Libraries and explore the spaces and facilities that are available. Then simply fill out an Expression of Interest form, attach any supporting material such as a C.V. and examples of past work and we will take it from there.

“The Library environment is genuinely amazing: having been involved in University libraries for 30 years or more, I thought I understood them pretty well, but the dynamic here really is very special, helped in no little way by the wonderful staff. It was a real privilege just to sit to the side and listen to their interactions with the spectacularly diverse patrons!! “
